However, the External Manager does not consider the principal adverse impacts of its investment decisions or of its investment advice on sustainability factors. The External Manager may reassess its consideration in the future in regards to adverse impacts and sustainability objectives.

Strategy At A Glance

Purpose

- Target net return 5% p.a. in EUR / 6% in USD with limited volatility and drawdowns
- Designed as an alternative to fixed income portfolio with low correlations to markets and low interest rate risk

Focus

- Short-term private credit, such as trade finance: 60-65% of assets
- Arbitrage hedge funds with low correlation to the markets: 35-40% of assets
- Managers with proven ability to generate stable and uncorrelated returns

Structure

- Cyprus-domiciled RAIF, administrated by PWC
- Quarterly liquidity (with 95 calendar days notice)
- No leverage
- Top-tier depositary bank: EFG (Luxembourg) – Cyprus Branch
- Managed by a Cyprus-based AIFM with about $1bln under management

6% USD
target return

5% EUR
target return

Correlations:

Quality bonds	0.25
High-yield bonds	0.15
Equity (MSCI World)	0.32

Why Private Credit: The Opportunity Set

- Banks retreating: Post 2008, commercial banks scaled back their lending activities due to high capital reserve requirements (Basel III) and high compliance costs (Dodd-Frank), concentrating on large transactions only
- Funds stepping in: Alternative private credit offers both strong collaterals and relatively liquid assets
- Inflation hedge: Private loans are often issued at variable rates and reset frequently

Private Debt has never had a negative 5y return

Why Arbitrage Hedge Funds: Volatility Come-Back

After 8 years of low volatility, arbitrage has 3-5 strong years ahead

- Trade wars, Covid and recently Russia-Ukraine war have fostered huge macroeconomic dispersion – between countries, industries, and companies
- Regulatory, monetary and fiscal activism provoke violent rotations
- Less mature Asian markets, including China, have been opening up

Examples of arbitrage

- Prices of the same asset on different exchanges: copper in London vs. copper in Shanghai
- Prices of close substitutes: equity index futures vs. a basket of main stocks representing the index
- Yield of a 6-year US Treasury bond vs an average of 5-year and 7-year yields

LEON approach: Looking for niche strategies

- Harder-to-access markets or niche strategies
- We look for sustainable sources of excess returns, and for managers able to capture them
- We benefit from a vast network of peer fund selectors and institutional investors for cross-checks / sourcing
- Our key selection criteria: Limited portfolio drawdowns and Sharpe ratio > 2.0x

Indicative Portfolio Composition

Alternative Credit		% of portfolio	Arbitrage		% of portfolio
US Diversified Receivables		9%	Interest Rate Arbitrage		5%
Short-term US Consumer Finance		9%	Equity Index Arbitrage		5%
Short-term Canadian Senior Debt		7%	FX / Commodity Arbitrage		5%
Australian Bridge Credit		7%	CDS Arbitrage		5%
Asian Trade Finance	UK Bridge	7%	Muni Bonds Arbitrage		5%
Credit		6%	Volatility Arbitrage		4%
US Healthcare Receivables European		6%	Credit Arbitrage		4%
Trade Finance		5%
Australian Agri Inventory Finance		4%
German Bridge Credit		4%
Total Alternative Credit		64%	Total Arbitrage		33%
			Cash		3%

The Alternative Credit portfolio benefits from increase in short term interest rates and provides good hedge against inflation

The Arbitrage portfolio benefits from market volatility and provides good hedge against market corrections

Risk Management: Low correlation on portfolio level

Strict position limits — max. 12% per asset manager, max. 10% per fund, max. 20% per strategy type

Low correlations between funds (< 0.1 on average), which allows to increase performance without increasing risk

Risk Management: Strict checks on position level

Liquidity gap risks

Could the manager ever be forced to sell at fire prices?

- Niche-specific: pre-committed financing, crisis patterns in supply/demand
- Fund-specific: leverage, redemption rules
- Look for «hard to badly mismanage» opportunities

Market risks

How vulnerable is the fund to major global dislocations?

- Funds should explicitly manage drawdown risks
- The strategy should not have hidden beta to markets via derivatives

Performance risk

What risk premium(s) is the strategy collecting?

- Which structural or regulatory arbitrage drives outsized returns?
- Is asset valuation transparent? Has the manager incentives or ability to misrepresent valuation?
- Obligatory cross-checks with peer fund managers and large institutional investors
